Six months later, Nina Dixon, the oldest, shiest and – according to one particularly nasty journalist – ‘ugliest’ member of Upbeatz was walking down Oxford Street in central London, when...

“Nina! Is it true you want to leave Upbeatz? Did Jodie really use to bully you?”

Journalists, again! Nina hated them.

All she wanted was to go shopping in peace, but how was that possible with a camera and a microphone in her face?

"Wherever I go, the public are waiting to humiliate me, Marcus," Nina lamented to her new husband that evening over dinner.

"The other girls are more than singers: they're teenage girls' idols. I'm the ugly, pale one with terrible hair."

"That's not true!" Marcus argued. "You're beautiful! And besides, you're the best singer."

"Our manager doesn't think so. I only get one line per song."
