

So he would not be alone, Little Mole built himself a snowman. And it turned out really well!

“Don’t just stand there, Snowman,” Little Mole called.
“If you want to be friends with someone, you have to play with them!”
But the snowman was silent.