

A still life painting depicting various dried agricultural products. In the foreground, a large ear of corn with yellow and orange kernels sits on a dark wooden surface. To its left is a large, dried, yellowish-brown vegetable, possibly a pumpkin or squash, with a long stem. Behind it is a smaller, green, rounded vegetable. In the background, several dried onions and shallots are hanging from a wooden beam. A thick, reddish-brown wooden beam curves across the upper part of the scene. The background wall is a textured, light blue-grey color. The overall style is painterly and detailed.
